

Custom la carte subscriptions would be a fantastic service to the consumer, but providers naturally will not want to change. Ironically, they could probably make more money with a la carte.